

Artnet Magazine
Artnet.com
August 6, 2008

ARTNET NEWS

Aug. 6, 2008

AICON MOVES TO THE BOWERY

Aicon Gallery, the art space dedicated to South Asian art founded in New York's Flatiron district in 2000, is moving to the increasingly packed Bowery arts district. Set to open Sept. 18, 2008, at 33-35 Great Jones Street, Aicon New York's new headquarters will offer some 8,000-square-feet of space on two floors, in facilities designed by Nobu Arai. It kicks things off with "The Ghosts of Souza," Sept. 18-Oct. 17, 2008, a show curated by Alexander Keefe and dedicated to the work of the internationally acclaimed Indian artist Francis Newton Souza (1924-2002), alongside works by Indian and Pakistani artists affected by Souza's art.

The opening on Sept. 18 should be a doozy -- it's set to feature a performance by instrumental jam band Indian Ocean. More info at www.aicongallery.com