

(e)merge recap: festival takes DC art global

Nicole Aguirre, October 12, 2012

In its second year, the \(e\)merge Art Festival at the Capitol Skyline Hotel featured an international roster of over 80 galleries exhibiting 152 artists from 24 countries. Three levels of installation, painting, sculpture, video and other media captivated guests over three days that also included performances by Worn Magazine featured artists such as Holly Bass, Sheldon Scott, and Andrew Wodzianski. Organized in large part by Leigh Connor and Jamie Smith of CONNORSMITH Gallery, the annual festival is propelling the growing (e)merging art scene in Washington onto the international stage.

Honfleur gallery: Flipping through the Katherine Mann article in the newest issue of Worn Magazine.

Painting by Katherine Mann.

Transformer Gallery DC

Works lit up the hotel's basement in spectacular color.

Photography by Nicole Aguirre. Do not use our photos without permission.