PAUL WINSTANLEY: ART SCHOOL

June 5 – July 19, 2015

534 West 26th Street, New York

Opening Reception: Friday, June 5, 6 – 8pm

NEW YORK, April 8, 2015 Mitchell-Innes & Nash is pleased to present its third solo exhibition of work by the British artist Paul Winstanley. The exhibition will include approximately 10 new paintings from his ongoing series Art School, which is accompanied by Winstanley's recent photographic publication, Art School (2013). The photographs of empty art student's studios during summer vacations are the inspiration for both the monograph and the works in the show. The exhibition will be on view at the gallery's Chelsea location from June 5 through July 19, 2015.

Paul Winstanley is best known for his delicate paintings from photographs, which pull beauty from quotidian environs with tactile precision. Wavering between photographic realism and painterly softness, Winstanley's works call into question the quiet psychology of public and private spaces.

In this body of work, the artist traveled throughout the 2011 and 2012 summer months to art schools in England, Scotland, and Wales, photographing their interiors unaltered and in natural conditions, which became the source material for his paintings. The resulting paintings on panel are saturated with the creative potential offered by their ethereal emptiness. Both poetic and contemplative, the artist studios depicted in the paintings document the undefined creative act: completed, imagined, or unrealized. Through the luminous absence of these spaces, Winstanley gives tangible weight to the aesthetic unknown.

About Paul Winstanley

Paul Winstanley was born in Manchester in 1954 and lives and works in London. His work has been included in exhibitions since the 1970s, and over the past two decades it has been shown throughout the United Kingdom, Germany, France, and the United States.
