

CLEANING WITH CONFIDENCE Our contamination control strategy for the future

At Janitronics Building Services we have done the critical work to emerge stronger in the next normal. Our plan is to provide healthy and clean buildings now and as our clients begin the process of repopulation.

Our goal is to manage the risk factors of COVID-19 by utilizing science driven methods, technology and training for our employees and the clients we serve.

CROSS FUNCTIONING APPROACH:

Our approach creates a layered defense against COVID-19 and other emergencies for our clients in Class A Office, Biotech, Life Sciences, Retail and Residential properties. As your cleaning partner, we work with Security, Engineering and Property Management to lower the risk of COVID-19 in our buildings.

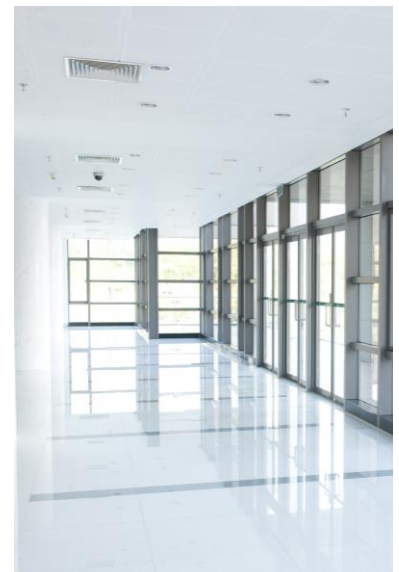

WE ARE COMMITTED TO:

- Education and Training
- Providing the best line of defense for our employees and our client partners
- Clean, disinfect and safely LEVEL SET the properties every day to lower the contamination risk for occupants, visitors and our employees.
- Managing risk factors by following CDC guidelines
- Providing PPE, onsite supervision and employee support both at work and in their communities.

ACTIONS:

We have established an internal task force, reorganized supply chains, set up remote operations, researched and implemented new technologies and created new pandemic related employee training.

We have emerged stronger, safer, and more prepared. Not only has our organization needed to act now, we needed to act boldly, building a new model of services delivery based on science and health.
