The Kantor Gallery presents Andy Warhol, “All the Money in My Life,” opening this month.

From the 1950’s through the 1980’s, Andy Warhol produced a number of drawings and paintings which focused on dollar bills, dollar signs, and other money-related icons.

These varied images of “money” represent symbols of our popular culture and reflect contemporary life. This exhibit, another collaboration of Warhol’s work, demonstrates his draftsmanship as an illustrator and how it evolved over the course of his career. A career that established him as one of the most recognizable artists of the 20th century.

“All the Money in My Life” opens Saturday, January 15 with a reception from 6:00 to 9:00 p.m. The show will remain on view in the gallery through February 26.

The gallery is located at 8642 Melrose Avenue, in West Hollywood, California, across from the Pacific Design Center. For inquiries, call the gallery at 310-659-5388, fax 310-659-3169, email kantorart@earthlink.net or visit the gallery web site at www.kantorgallery.com.
