

GOOP

Los Angeles

First stop in LA come September is the Hammer Museum to see the exhibition “Ed Ruscha : On the Road” (through 2 October), featuring Ruscha’s new body of paintings and drawings that take their inspiration from passages in Kerouac’s novel. Then it’s on to MoCA to see the Cy Twombly tribute “A Scattering of Blossoms and Other Things” (through 2 October). “Pacific Standard Time,” an amazing celebration of Southern California art and design, 1945 - 1980, kicks off in October, but you can get an early peek at a few exhibitions opening in September (pacificstandardtime.org).

Gallery Shows opening in September

Robert Irwin at L&M (17 September - 22 October)

KAWS at Honor Fraser (10 September - 22 October)

Robert Therrien at Gagosian (23 September - 29 October)

Andrea Zittel at Regen Projects (16 September - 29 October)

Melanie Pullen at Ace Gallery (20 September - 20 December)

