

Johan Grimonprez Book signing

Friday, March 4th
5:00 - 6:30pm
Armory Fair, VIP lounge

Presented by Sean Kelly Gallery

Books are available for purchase at the book signing. They are priced at $25 ($27.22 with tax). Cash only, no credit cards.

Documenting the work of the critically acclaimed filmmaker, Johan Grimonprez, It's a poor sort of memory that only works backwards is the most complete survey of the work of the Belgian artist. It assembles the most insightful dialogues and critiques of his major pieces, as well as for the very first time, fragments of the film scripts. Authors include Jodi Dean, Dany Nobus, Slavoj Žižek, Tom McCarthy, Chris Darke, Don DeLillo, Thomas Elsaesser, Alexander Provan, John Rumbiak, Catherine Bernard, Florence Montagnon and Simon Tay.

Published by Hatje Cantz, the BLAUFFER ART MUSEUM, FRUITMARKET GALLERY, Edinburgh, and S.M.A.K., Ghent, in conjunction with ARTIST ROOMS, TATE, and NATIONAL GALLERIES OF SCOTLAND, beeldende kunst STROMBEEK MECHELEN, and KASK Ghent, and with the generous support of Gallerie Kamel Mennour, Paris and the Sean Kelly Gallery, New York.

You must present this invitation for access to the VIP lounge for the event, if you don't have an Armory Circle/VIP card. If you need access to the fair itself, please contact the gallery in advance at info@skny.com and arrangements can be made.
